The Class Officer Associations Executive Board and Alumni Relations recognize the Class of 1989

for creativity and innovation through a multi-year commitment positively impacting the environment, campus, and student learning.

Allyson Bouldon ’84
COAEB President

Jessica Womack ’14
COAEB Vice President

Carolyn Gray Kimberlin
Alumni Relations
Class of 1989

The Class Officer Association Executive Board and Dartmouth recognize the Class of 1989 for its creativity and commitment to improving our environment through the development and execution of the Pollinator Project. Established in spring 2022, the Pollinator Project resulted in the planting of over 12,000 square feet of native wildflowers at 10 sites across the Upper Valley, such as at a Vermont elementary school, at the organic farm, and in the town of Hanover. The Pollinator Project has inspired Dartmouth faculty and classes, who are now studying these sites, as well as local public and private organizations that seek to emulate the Class of 1989’s model. The class also launched a new service website, dartmouthservice.org, that tracks the Pollinator Project as well as the other activities of the class’s recently established Service Committee.